

HALF RACK HDHR2

The sturdy and versatile Nautilus Half Rack is built to accommodate a wide range of exercises, movements and users from beginner to professional athlete. The open-front design lets users move freely and allows for the use of a variety of benches. The optional wood floor and band pegs make it perfect for athletic training and Olympic style lifting, while the shorter 97" tower means it can fit into facilities with lower ceilings. The compact design and built-in plate storage make our Half Rack ideal for schools and personal training facilities as well as larger facilities.
